University Won't
Subsidize, Asserts
Publication Board

By BRUCE BRYAN

BALKED IN attempts to effect subsidization of the Cherry Tree when the University Publications Committee and the Student Council both indicated such a plan would not be feasible, the administrative staff of the yearbook annual and the Interfraternity Council committee have failed to reach a complete agreement.

Following a meeting of the Cherry Tree staff and the Council committee appointed to bring about a compromise between the two disputing factions, held last Tuesday night, a plea for financial support from the University was taken to the Publications Committee. The group revealed that it would be "impossible" to grant such a request. The Student Council had previously gone on record as saying that sufficient funds were not included in the budget for such subsidization.

Question of Subsidization

Fred Youngblood, business manager of the annual, after notification of the action of the University groups, said, "Further action toward outside subsidization of the yearbook, which operates on a theoretically balanced budget of equal income and expenses, has resolved itself to application to the Trustees through President Marvin—an action which at best will not bring results rapidly enough to enable the annual's staff to budget this year's book on such a basis."

According to Youngblood, two of the five points set forth by Interfraternity as basis for negotiations with the yearbook representatives were immediately approved by his staff. These included the full page of informal shots as requested by the Council and the request for a representative on the Board.

Speaking of the latter request, Youngblood said, "that such a plan was 'welcomed' by the Cherry Tree. Such a plan will not only enable future agreements to be largely obviated," he said, "but will relieve the annual's staff of many details of production that the individual organizations can more effectively handle."

He also revealed that under the same setup both the Pan-Hellenic Council and the Engineer's Council would be offered a Board post on the same basis.

No Compromise in Sight

Harold Hudson, president of the Interfraternity Council, emphasizing that the situation is "nowhere near a compromise," said "The Interfraternity Council Special Committee for Cherry Tree compromise has not as yet presented a report upon which the Council can act. Until such is the case, it cannot be said with certainty what may happen."

In an answer to the Council's request for a full page devoted to the individual fraternities' activities, the business manager said that such a plan had been drawn up. Under the new set-up, a full page would be granted under the old contract price, with the stipulation that each group would guarantee the sale of five copies to that organization. Youngblood stressed, however, that this would not be a compulsory measure, and that organizations so indicating would be allotted the original space unit of one-half page with no subscription guarantee.

Concluding his summary of the proposed compromise, Youngblood said that the final request of Council, that arrangements be made whereby individual pictures could be used in succeeding years, had "brought up many difficulties."

"The Cherry Tree," he said, "has expressed its desire to cooperate in working out these details and in having a contract formulated with the photographer providing for such a program."

Mann Disgusted
Bud Pappenfort, head of the Interfraternity compromise committee, said Sunday night that "Until such a contract is drawn up with the photographer and presented for our approval, we cannot present a report to our group. The entire program must first definitely be decided upon."

Frank Mann, Student Council president last night issued the following statement: "I'm disgusted with the whole affair. In my opinion, the Cherry Tree staff has bent over backwards in an effort to bring a settlement, and the Council continues to insist on its unreasonable demands. This is my frank opinion, and I say it as a fraternity man."

Dr. Cole Reviews Modern Fiction

MEETING in Columbian House Thursday night, the Literary Club heard Dr. Charles Cole lecture on "Patterns of American Fiction in the 1930 Decade." After discussing the background and books of the period, Dr. Cole selected Santayana's "The Last Puritan" as his personal choice for the best American novel of the period.

A business meeting was held after the discussion. It was decided to hold alternate private meetings of the club, wherein the writings of the members could be read and discussed.

Gates Opens Art Exhibition At University

ROBERT GATES, distinguished American artist, opened an exhibit of his latest works at The Studio Gallery Sunday.

Gates is an instructor at Phillips Institute of Art and is considered one of America's foremost artists. He is renowned for his works which have a color and depth the equal of which is hard to find among contemporary artists.

His work, "Fire Boat," combined light and action in such a way that it stole the show. Other highlights included his interpretation of "The Hunter" and a highly imaginative piece, "Across the Scurvey."

One painting, "Clearing," was purchased by Professor Shepherd. All the works are for sale, and much interest has been shown in the sale of them.

A student exhibition was opened simultaneously with the Gates display. The students' work revolved around a character sketch by Pascal Frazier, entitled "The Vagabond."

Fashions designed by Lorene Coleman and Musha Everett attracted much attention and the designs were highly commended for their originality in design and emphasis.

Kittl Bart, art instructor, was very pleased with the work turned out by her students, saying that she had great hopes in the future of her pupils.

The gallery will be open to the public for the remainder of the month.

O.D.K. Sends Pledge Bids

CERTAIN CAMPUS leaders are advised to keep a weather eye cocked on the mailman today and tomorrow. Ward McCabe, ODK Secretary-treasurer, announced yesterday.

The bids for ODK's newest pledge class are in the mails and some eight or ten University men will soon learn that they have been invited to join the Olympus of campus leaders. Official announcement to the campus in general will not be made, however, until the All-University Prom, Feb. 7, when formal tapping takes place.

'Japan No Menace to U. S.' Dean Johnstone Declares

TAKING as his subject "Latin American and Japan's New Order," Dean William C. Johnstone, of the Junior College, speaking at the opening session of the Fourth Annual Pan American Conference, declared that "Japan constitutes no menace to the United States in Latin America, economically, culturally, or politically."

Held under the direction of the Inter-American Center of the University, the two-night session considered as its subject, "New World Security: Military, Cultural and Economic Defense of the Western Hemisphere." The programs included addresses by leaders in government, diplomacy, education, the press, the army and international trade.

Sharing the spotlight with Dean Johnstone on Monday night were John I. B. McCulloch, of the Foreign Policy Association and Editor of the Pan American News; Harry Warner Frantz, news writer of United Press; a panel discussion following the scheduled speeches led by Kendrick Nicholas Marshall; William Cabell Van Vleet, Dean of the Law School; Russell Singer, General Manager of the American Automobile Association, and Frederick M. Feiker, Dean of the Engineering School.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL last week unanimously approved the idea of raising the graduation fee enough to cover the cost of a Cherry Tree for each senior. The resolution was introduced by Publications Delegate Gretchen Hill.

The exact amount of the increase in the graduation fee would depend on the sum for which the Cherry Tree could be supplied. With the greatly increased circulation, the cost might well be less than the three dollars which is now charged for the yearbook.

University Comptroller Henry Herzog said that if it could be shown that the majority of the seniors approved of the proposed increased fee in order to include the Cherry Tree, the matter might be brought before the Board of Trustees, by whom it would have to be approved before going into effect.

The Hatchet suggested this solution to the problem of financing the Cherry Tree in an editorial last week, pointing out that it would shift the cost of the Cherry Tree from the fraternities and sororities to the seniors—from organizations to individuals.

Fred Youngblood, Business Manager of the Cherry Tree, said the suggestion was an "excellent idea."

Cue and Curtain Conducts Contest Of One-Act Plays

CUE AND CURTAIN again reminds students of its second annual one-act play-writing contest. Deadline for entries will be Feb. 15. All manuscripts must be mailed to Allen Dewey at 1128 16th Street, N. W., before that time.

The title page must include the writer's name, address, telephone number, and class of the University in which enrolled. Manuscripts should be double spaced, and on one side of the paper only. The prize-winning plays in this contest will be presented as the next major production of Cue and Curtain. Production rights will remain with the author.

Judges for the contest will be members of the faculty of the English Department of the University.

Men's Dorm Receives Seven Applications

APPLICATION FROM seven men for permission to room in the University's new dorm, housing fourteen students, were received by Prof. DeWitt Bennett last week. The building at 717 22nd Street will be ready for occupancy Feb. 5.

The opening of the new unit is the first step in an experiment to determine if there is a need for men's housing facilities on the campus. Room rent is calculated to stand each student close to $12.50 a month, although most rates will fall a little over or a little under this figure.

Prof. Bennett stated that applications would be considered and that the future roomers would be picked with the factor of need weighing heavily.

The rooms will be furnished with high-quality furniture and the latest from the business manager's office is that the mattresses will be three grades higher than the U. S. Navy specifications. It is estimated that mattresses received four years' wear in one in men's dormitories. Other luxuries in the new unit include a telephone, ample wash-room facilities and a graduate manager to supervise the house. Applications are still being received by Prof. Bennett in his office in Columbian House, second floor.

A FULL MILITARY staff has been set up to direct the Women's Activities Building campaign drive, which will be carried on during February. Kathryn Hershey succeeds to the rank of her father, and as Brigadier General, will supervise the staff of student workers beneath her.

The system that has been set up will endeavor to reach every woman student in the University and to obtain 100 per cent subscription to the "Buy a Brick" campaign. Captains will be assigned groups of girls, each of whom will be responsible for getting in contact with ten women students. Placed in charge of the captains, with a rank of Colonel, will be Ruth Brunner.

Sue Burnett has been made Intelligence chief, or Publicity Chairman; Constance Smith is in charge of Supply; while Florence James will handle the Morale of the staff. The morale is to be supplied by frequent luncheons, at which the captains will gather to report the progress of their operations. Lily Dhu Cobb is Adjutant, or Secretary; while the Chief of Finance, or treasurer, remains to be chosen.

The system will begin operation with a luncheon in the Faculty Club at 12 noon. Workers will be registered Feb. 4, 5, and 6 from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. in the basement of Government. The opening organizational meeting for captains and general staff will be held Feb. 10, at which time all insignia will be distributed. Weekly luncheons will be held thereafter for the staff and the captains on Feb. 17, 24, and March 3.

The campaign is endeavoring to raise funds for a building in which all women's activities will be concentrated. The building will include adequate gymnasiums, clubroom facilities, and a dining room.

Finals Loom As Term Ends

THE FIRST SEMESTER will come to a close tomorrow. After a two-day study period, midyear finals will hold the spotlight until Feb. 1, during which time strong men will forget to shave and strong women won't have to, anyway.

The University has designated Feb. 4-6 for registration purposes. The first day is exclusively for freshmen while the other two days are for others.

Registration will be held in the Hall of Government from 11 a. m. until 7 p. m. on the specified days, for all except Law Students, who will sign up for next semester in Stockton Hall.

All of the colleges, schools, and divisions except the School of Medicine, may be entered in February. More than 500 courses, including new courses and those which may be entered in mid-year, are open for February registration.

Med Alumni Will Preview Surgery Aids

UNIVERSITY Medical Alumni will have an opportunity to preview some of the newest and most advanced procedures in medicine and surgery when the Ninth Annual Post Graduate Clinic of the School of Medicine gets under way Feb. 15.

According to Dr. Harry F. Dowling, director of the clinic, the program includes scientific assemblies, demonstrations and laboratory inspections.

Dr. Charles W. Mayo, of the famed Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., leads the list of prominent out-of-town speakers who will participate in the clinic. He will conduct a clinic on diseases of the colon.

Dr. Tom D. Spies, associate professor of medicine at the University of Cincinnati, will speak on nutritional diseases, and Dr. Paul D. White, lecturer in medicine at Harvard University, will conduct a clinic.

The clinic is offered to all University Medical alumni who are now engaged in active practice and will give them a chance to come in touch with the most recent developments of medical science.

The program will close Saturday night with the 15th annual reunion and banquet of the University Medical Society, to be held in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, with some 500 physicians and surgeons in attendance.

All-U Prom Completes Its Plans For Feb. 7

ODK TAPPING, the awarding of prizes and cups, a grand march of activity leaders, and the sweet music of Don Lane's Aristocrats. Sum all this up and you have a date for the annual All-University Prom to be held Feb. 7 at the Washington Hotel.

The All-U Prom was started four years ago to give an opportunity for those people who do not belong to social fraternities or sororities to "get out" to a big school dance given especially for them. It has traditionally been a great success.

This year's prom is under the direction of Carter Bowen, social chairman of the Student Council, and his committee of one, Gordon Calvert.

Plans are in progress to make this the greatest of all the dances. The Hall of Nations room of the hotel will be decorated with banners of the fraternities, sororities, and other organizations which now repose in the Student Club. The lights will be low to do honor to Don Lane's orchestra—one of the Jack Morton units—when they swing out. This popular band played for the Homecoming Prom and will also play for the Engineer's Ball. To top all this off the dance will be held the night classes are resumed for the second semester as a celebration of the end of finals.

During intermission, ODK men's honorary activities and scholarship organization, will tap. A prize and a cup will be given at this time to the individual and organization who sold the most co-op books, during the recent drive.

Immediately preceding the "between-the-halves" of the dance activity leaders led by Frank Mann, president of the Student Council, and Pat Horne, and Carter Bowen, social chairman and Ruth Bauerfeld will take part in the Grand March. Behind them will be other members of the Student Council, presidents of fraternities and sororities and other campus leaders.

Balmer Wins ASCE Prize

AT A MEETING of the American Society of Civil Engineers in New York, last week, Harry A. Balmer, University junior in civil engineering, was awarded the Daniel W. Mead Prize and a $25 cash award in a national essay-writing competition for engineering students.

Balmer first presented his paper, a 2,000-word essay entitled "Ethics for Engineering Students," at a meeting last spring of the University chapter of the A. S. C. E. It was then forwarded to New York to be judged in this competition, entered by students in engineering colleges throughout the country.

Portuguese Club Hears Verissimo

ERICO VERISSIMO, leading Brazilian novelist, will speak to members of the Portuguese Club at 8 p. m. Friday in Columbian House. The noted novelist, one of the foremost of Latin-American writers, has come to the United States at the invitation of the Department.

Mr. Verissimo is the first Brazilian writer to receive such an invitation, and is among the first of various Latin-American men of letters who will come to this country as guests of the State Department this year.

Ex-University Student Earns Army Wings at Randolph

ROBERT G. CARNAHAN, 40, S. A. E. was one of the class of 280 pilots who graduated from Randolph Field, Texas, during Christmas week. He will now go to the Advanced Flying School at Kelly Field, Texas for a final ten weeks instruction before receiving his wings and commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Corps.

Carnahan started flying last August in a division of almost 300 candidates, which by graduation week had been eliminated to 33. This division, along with several others which graduated at the same time constituted the largest class to graduate from the "West Point of the Air."

The present training schedule transforms young college men between 20 and 27, and who have at least two years of college education, into full-fledged military aviators in 35 weeks. Robert completed his basic flying course of 65 hours' flying time in the 10 weeks preliminary course at Love Field, Texas. The second phase of training, much of it night flying or under the instrument flying hood, was completed at Randolph Field, from which he recently graduated.

Council Okays Big Changes In Constitution

SWEEEPING CHANGES in the constitution of the Student Council of the body held last Wednesday. Affected by the spirit of the recent regulation of the Student Life Committee that campus organizations revise and resubmit their constitutions, the Student Council gave to the Forensics Representative, Ed Baker, the job of recommending the changes in the constitution.

With the general purpose in mind of making the constitution more concise and easily understood, the recommended changes will make a new constitution about one-fourth of its present size. Among the changes recommended are the following:

1. The membership of the Student Life Committee shall be composed of six students and five faculty members. It shall meet at least once a month and submit reports to the Student Council at least once every two months.
2. The sections dealing with the qualifications for holding office, which take about four-fifths of the present constitution, shall be condensed to a blanket requirement of 45 semester-hours, 30 of which must have been obtained at this university.
3. There will be organized an Activity Council composed of the heads of many campus organizations or their representatives. The Activity Council will make recommendations to the Student Council. Only the Functional Officers, elected by the school at large, will serve on the Student Council and have a vote.
4. The offices of Social Chairman will be created to direct and coordinate the dances and social functions sponsored by the Student Council. The office of Freshman Director will be re-

Alumni Give 9 Scholarships

NINE SCHOLARSHIPS will be awarded in February for the second semester by the Columbian Women of the University. These awards will be given on the basis of financial need plus good scholarship.

Applications for scholarships for September must be made by Apr. 15 to Mrs. Juanita M. Winn, 706 E. Street, S. E., Chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

Ten of these scholarships were awarded last June.

Cooperative Store Opens Again January 29

SELF-SUFFICIENCY in textbooks for the University will be the aim of the Student Book Exchange which will open for next semester's business on Jan. 29. Frank Mann, president of the Student Council, has appointed Ed Gee in charge of the Cooperative Store this semester. Gee, a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity, is the Council representative of miscellaneous clubs and organizations. Assisting will be Jim Bacon and Isola Moll.

Ed Gee has announced the following hours: 10-1 p. m. and 4:30-6:30 p. m. every day but Saturday. Especially in demand, he said, are general psychology and elementary texts in Political science, history, English, chemistry and geology. The store is located in the basement of building G.

In announcing its opening, director Ed Gee, stated that "we intend to profit by the experience of last year, when the exchange turned over more than $1,000 to student customers, and made the store even more efficient as a University co-operative."

They plan to find out from each professor the name of the text required in his course that semester. A list of these books published in the Hatchet will inform students which of their books they will be able to sell at the Exchange. The store will endeavor to buy only those books which are being used this semester.

On a non-profit, non-political basis, the exchange operates for the purpose of buying and selling used textbooks. Most of the ten percent deduction will be used to pay the workers in the Exchange while the rest will be appropriated to the various campus organizations.

Yearbook Will Drive For Sales

THE CHERRY TREE circulation drive will get under way at the beginning of the second semester, with tables being set up in the Student Club and the Hall of Government to approach students at registration.

Sales representatives of the Cherry Tree will be members of the sororities who are competing for the cup awarded annually to the sorority selling the most copies. The deadline this year will be Apr. 1, when the cup will be awarded to the winning sorority.

Brochures explaining the new plan for the Cherry Tree are now being sent out to members of the senior classes of the various schools of the University. An information blank has also been included in the letter, which the seniors are requested to fill out and return to the Cherry Tree as soon as possible.

Organizations which wish to have pictures of their meetings and social functions included in the new Cherry Tree should notify the Photographic Editor, Elaine Peterson, Strong Hall, ME. 5322, far enough in advance to have a staff photographer at such functions. Large numbers of such pictures are desired by the Cherry Tree in order to present the events of the year pictorially.

Any amateur photographers who have failed to turn in pictures are urged to do so at once. All pictures should be turned in to the Publications Office, Corcoran Hall, properly indorsed with name and address.

Seniors and members of organizations are again reminded to have their individual pictures taken before the deadline on Feb. 10. The photographer is J. E. Casson, 1305 Conn. Ave. N. W., and the pictures may be taken any week-day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. There will be a service charge of $1.00 levied on all photographs taken after the above date and after Feb. 18 there can be no pictures taken at all.

Organizations have received contracts from the Cherry Tree business staff. According to Fred Youngblood, business manager for the publication, the returns look very promising. Those groups which have not returned their contracts as yet are urged to get them in at the earliest possible time, so that the page arrangement may be decided.

Deadline Is Feb. 1 For Language Tests

CANDIDATES FOR the master's degree in Columbian College who plan to take the reading knowledge examination in a foreign language on Feb. 8 must notify the Columbian College office in writing by Feb. 1 of their intention to do so, it was announced by Dean Henry Grattan Doyle last week.

Each candidate should indicate both the language in which he expects to be examined and his major field of study in order that an appropriate examination may be arranged.

Notes from the Editor's Desk

Random thoughts while putting out the page:

Propaganda—Not So Good
 ● PRIZE of the week's crop of publicity "blubs" was the release with the intriguing title "Current Radio War Hits George Washington University." At first glance it looked like hot stuff—big news. But closer inspection revealed that the words "George Washington University" had been typed in on the mimeographed form at the top and throughout the body of the release. The title of the University was unfortunately too long to fit properly in the blank spaces provided—once it was squeezed between the lines; once it was abbreviated. (The latter looked terrible.)

The release claimed that representatives of the University had written to a prominent orchestra leader asking that he write a new alma mater (news to us), and that said song-writing would have to wait until the current ASCAP-radio battle had been settled, as the orchestra leader's songs were among those banned from the air at present.

Just another illustration of the inventiveness of propaganda experts—only this time it didn't take very well.

Spanish in One Easy Lesson
 ● THERE is a persistent rumor that newspaper men are all a little batty. Couple this with the fact that final exams in foreign languages (as well as in other subjects, of course) are approaching, and you might have part of the explanation for the following note posted at the top of the assignment sheet for the reporting staff of The Hatchet last week:

"Asignamientos por la semana del 21 de enero
 "QUERIDO STAFF:
 "Ees could be mayhap que yousesteds saben zat El Hatchet makes with coming out wance more before ees approaching los examenes finales. Of course, to thees ees meaning zat zeos reporteros must—how you say—come through weeth mucho copy thees week. Ees no?"

"La Universidad makes practice from counting cuts doble los cuts which occur on el last day proceeding todos los holidays. El Hatchet does nut reconocimientetizski cuts. Bot los Editores are having tremendulous memories in el future as to whose—how you say—showing up in crubible times. Keep thees in mind. Eees very healthy."

"EES NO?"

Ho-Hum Note
 ● So they're revising the Student Council Constitution again. Why not put it in the University Calendar as a yearly event?

Of Many Things

By Albert Tate, Jr.

Apologia

● THE Reform Party has pointed out to this column that last week's crack about free blue books and their present lack was unjustified. "Read our platform in The Hatchet," they say. "There's no mention at all in the official version about free blue books." It seems that I was misled by reading some incidental propaganda tossed out during the campaign.

I am passing this item on with the suggestion that some old advice needs a new wrinkle in it. It used to be said that we shouldn't sign anything without reading it. This column suggests that every student go carefully through the party platform and be very, very careful there's no sinister hidden clause in one of the planks, before voting next May. You can never tell.

Least this column be suspected of disgruntled Service—us wish to insist we are our neutral; furthermore, our vote is up for auction next election. Any party that promises to put shiny brass cuspidors in the library will get at least one (and more, if they provide the extra student-books) free vote from me. But, we warn you, we won't commit ourselves until we see this plank in black and white, printed in The Hatchet in the official party platform; not even if the candidate swears himself blue in the face that he'll polish the cuspidors himself. Through bitter disillusionment, we've learned our lesson.

How to Pass the Finals

January is the time when the year begins and many college careers end. The not-so-subtle overtones to that is that finals rear their ugly heads before the calends of February. This column decided to come out of the ivory tower and do some research on the best methods to surmount these obstacles to continued peaceful contemplation in the Student Club.

The first thing to remember is that the profs aren't any more cheerful about the damthings than you are. Every time finals come up, they have to learn a little about their courses again in order to give questions that seem learned. And then they have to go through the motions of reading blue books and making a few marks in them, a waste of time when Hedy Lamarr's associated with the motion picture industry.

(A) The Man-to-Man Method
 The first method takes full account of this situation. A test written in this manner is easiest of all to correct. You merely show him by some easy, nonchalant remark, such as: "To err is human" or "Had a high time last night, no chance to study" or "Outfoxed me this time" or "I'm not trying for an A." (If you want to be very humorous, say, "I pass." He is sure to chuckle over the pun.)

Then leave the rest of the book blank and walk out of the room after about 10 minutes. You'll find this method leaves the whole exam period entirely unhampered by academic details.

(B) The Charm Method
 This method, for the conservative students who wish to stick to filling a few pages of their blue books, has two approaches. The first is to provide yourselves with all sort of rabbits' feet loaded dice, etc.; the best charm being a small image of Ferdinand to be kept handy as you write.

The other approach of this method is restricted only to pretty girls. This charm method rarely fails, unless the prof is near-sighted.

Conclusion
 There are several other methods which we don't have room to discuss. We probably ought to mention, if only for historical interest, the now-obsolete method of studying. However, if by any chance these methods (and you) should fail, and if it is absolutely vital that no news of the failure reach home, we have yet another method which we are not at liberty to disclose. (Hint: A gun or bomb and knowledge that the local police force is notoriously inefficient are useful details of it.)

Riders Announce New Club Officers

● THE RIDING CLUB, at its meeting last Wednesday night, elected the following officers: Dick Baird, president; Charles Coffey, vice-president; Emaline Burnette, secretary; and Jack Courtier, treasurer. After the election, the new president appointed a number of committees and heard several motions for change in the policy of the club.

Presented also at the meeting was a sound movie in color by Professor John A. Tillema of the University, entitled, "Rolling Down to Mexico."

Editorials . . .

Do They Approve?

● THE HATCHET notes with pleasure the unanimous endorsement by the Student Council of its suggestion that the best way to solve the problem of financing the Cherry Tree would be to raise the graduation fee, requiring all members of the senior classes to receive a copy of the yearbook. This would assure the Cherry Tree of a circulation of more than a thousand copies.

It is regretted that the Publications Committee at its meeting last week declined to take any initiative in resolving the question of how the Cherry Tree can be supported, holding instead that the matter was the responsibility of the Student Council, acting ultimately through the University Comptroller and the Board of Trustees.

However, one possibility of concrete action remains, difficult though it may be to carry out. The University Comptroller stated unofficially that if it could be shown that a majority of the seniors would approve of the increase in graduation fee, the question of such an increase might be brought before the Board of Trustees.

It is up to the Cherry Tree to take the lead in a survey to determine the sentiment of seniors on this matter. The Hatchet will be glad to cooperate, and the Student Council and Interfraternity Council might also be enlisted. Members of the senior classes might be contacted by telephone by a sizeable staff drawn from these organizations, and the poll taken.

Present plans indicate that this year's Cherry Tree will be much improved in its interest. In contrast to the old-style photograph album, reports are that this year's book will be a running summary of the year with many action pictures and a snappy modernistic makeup. There appears to be little reason why the seniors should not gladly submit to a slight increase in the graduation fee if thereby is made possible a yearbook of such interest and quality that it will at times in the future be able to re-create briefly scenes of the eventful years of college training.

And if the idea has the approval of the seniors, then it should easily have that of the Board of Trustees.

Early action is indicated, action in which The Hatchet will be glad to assist.

"Point of Order"

● ALL TOO frequently when students assemble as an organization to do business there is the temptation to play around with the mechanics of parliamentary procedure, to revise the constitution ad infinitum and ad nauseum, and to debate back and forth, hour after hour, points not particularly vital to the problems at hand. For a few hardened meeting-attenders it is good practice, but usually such business reacts unfavorably for the organization, for most of the members lose interest at an astonishing rate. The purpose of the club becomes obscured behind the haze of verbiage.

A convenient but by no means isolated example is the last Cue and Curtain meeting. In case anyone has forgotten, Cue and Curtain's primary purpose is to produce plays, to give training in various phases of dramatics to its members (or are we misinformed?) After a couple of lean years the group has made a nice comeback and has given a number of plays during the last two years which were well received by the audiences.

It was therefore somewhat disheartening to see a group of approximately 40 (which soon enough dwindled to about 20) last week spend more than an hour debating such things as whether points should be withdrawn in case of members failing to attend meetings without a "good excuse," whether a quorum was present, whether fraternities and sororities could be persuaded to subscribe to blocks of seats; whether such-and-such a committee could be appointed by an officer or by the whole group and why or why not.

The questions raised were mostly such that could have been settled almost at once, or should never have come up at all. Meanwhile, some members lose interest, and the primary purpose—play production—suffers. The talking should be from or at least about the stage, not organization.

Nor is this group alone in this fault. There are other groups notorious for such quibbling, and very few, if any, are noticeably free from it.

How about more action and less talk on the part of all organizations on campus next semester?

Typewriter vs. Pen

● LAST WEEK a Hatchet columnist very ably stated the case in behalf of the students who, because of their constant use of the typewriter, find it difficult to write legible examination papers in longhand, the time limitations being what they are.

The following is quoted: "It would be unfair to non-typing students to have a bunch of clacking typewriters in the same room with them. On the other hand, most typists are not disturbed by the noise of other machines. Therefore it would seem that the typing test-takers should be segregated by themselves."

It was pointed out that the names of those desiring to type the test could be taken in advance, and the list together with the proper number of exams could be sent to a typing room, where the students could identify themselves by activity book, get the proper examination papers in longhand, the time limitations being what they are.

The Hatchet is in full accord with the proposal, and suggests that the appropriate administration officials give serious consideration to the proposal and ways and means of putting it into effect.

Abolish It

● PRE-REGISTRATION might well be abolished. Particularly this year it has been a farce. It was supposed to have begun last Monday and closes tomorrow, yet the schedules of classes for the second semester was not to have been available until today.

Even without this handicap making it impossible for one to complete registration, the number of students taking advantage of the period for registering before the rush is hardly sufficient to justify continuing pre-registration.

Furthermore, it is a nuisance to the instructors to be disturbed by those few conscientious (and confident!) individuals who register for the second semester before completing the first. The extra numbers could easily be handled during the regular period, with much less bother to already over-busy professors.

In short, pre-registration apparently serves no useful purpose. It might just as well be abandoned.

Observe the Rules

● IF THERE is any one campus group that should studiously observe Student Council regulations more than any other, it is the Student Council itself.

The Hatchet regrets the opportunity to point out the fact that the new Council secretary, who took office last week, is a sophomore and therefore lacks the number of credit hours specified in the Council constitution for that position.

It is hoped that the Council will remedy this appointment at once.

Texas Band Bunks In Tin Tabernacle

● IF YOU noticed a troupe of cowboys romping about the University gym these past few days, you needn't worry about any cows being loose—it's only the Hardin-Simmons University band keeping in trim for the gala inauguration ceremonies.

The University has temporarily turned its gym into a dormitory for 20 members of the famous band who were unable to find accommodations in the crowded city. Being from Abilene, Texas, and calling themselves The Cowboys, the boys naturally feature chaps, ten-gallon hats, eight white horses and ten beautiful cowgirls (who did NOT stay in the gym, however).

So far, they have marched in the parade and performed on the radio. They are now dicker for an appearance at Loew's Capitol. This makes the second trip the band has made to a Roosevelt inauguration, the first being in 1933. The band has toured the United States and Europe, and played in Paris two years ago.

Hardy Pearce, football coach at Central High School, and an alumnus of Hardin-Simmons and the University, arranged for the accommodations through Max Farrington, University Athletic director. Old bedding that the athletic department used years ago when the football team held fall practice at Fort Lettis, was handily set up and the Cowboys were stowed away comfortably in their spacious quarters.

Council

stored to its former place as a functional office of the Student Council.

5. The office of Forum Director is to be abolished. This is done on the recommendation of Roy Lowry, the present Forum Director, because he feels that the function of his office can not be carried out to fullest success by a student but requires complete and direct support of the University administration. The Student Council would support any forums sponsored by the University. The office of Internal Director is to be abolished due to the fact that the functions of this office are already in the hands of the Athletic Department and they are carrying out this work.

The final draft of the new constitution will be prepared by Haley Scurlock, the Student Council Advocate, and will be presented for approval at the next meeting of the Council. Pending the action on the new constitution, no elections will be held for officers or delegates to the Student Council.

All U-Prom

part of the dance broadcast over one of the local radio stations.

Tickets will be $2.00 per couple and may be obtained from any member of the Student Council or from Vinnie de Angelis. Co-op books which have now been reduced to $2.50 will also be acceptable.

University Student Wins A.S.C.E. Prize

● HARRY A. BALMER, a junior student in the Civil Engineering course at the University, was awarded, Jan. 15, first prize in a national essay-writing competition for engineering students.

The presentation was made in New York at a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers where Balmer received the Daniel W. Mead Prize on his paper, "Ethics for Engineering Students." Balmer received a $25 cash award and a certificate naming him as the first winner in this contest, which carries the name of Daniel W. Mead, former president of the American Society of Civil Engineers and a prominent teacher in the engineering field.

Balmer's paper, which approximated 2000 words, was delivered last Spring at a meeting of the University student chapter of the A. S. C. E. It was then forwarded to New York to be judged in this competition, which included students in engineering colleges throughout the country.

Band Elects Quarter-Master

● AT A RECENT MEETING of the University Band, Arthur Villet was elected new quarter-master replacing Robert Wales, who has been called away with the National Guard.

Mr. Brustloff said the band, due to finals, will not meet again until Feb. 8 at Riverside Stadium for the Furman game, and on Feb. 9 the band will meet for rehearsal in Gov. 1 at 2 o'clock.

LETTERS

To The Editors

The newly elected girl cheerleaders consider it a great honor, pleasure, and responsibility to be among those fostering an enthusiastic spirit in the student body. If it had not been for Mrs. Barrows, who gave her consent for a girls' cheering squad, this group would not be in existence. After the final selections, Mr. Farrington was most generous in having the athletic association furnish six uniforms, three more than had been expected. We wish also to extend our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Busick, who furnished publicity in the City newspapers, and last, but not least, to The Hatchet, which has graciously published numerous announcements.

Our head cheerleader, Mike McKool, has great hopes and plans for the George Washington Cheering Squad, and we girls will do our best to help carry them through successfully. We pledge ourselves to uphold the traditions of the University and to prove ourselves worthy of our position.

Engineering Balcony Notes

By MURRAY BERDICK

● THOSE OF YOU who have been wondering how you're going to buy a ticket to the Ball (of course you've heard that the Engineers' Ball will be Feb. 28) and get those flowers, and the tux out of hock ought to pull out the drawing board and whip out a poster advertising the Ball. The Engineers' Council is awarding a free ticket for the best poster submitted by Feb. 12. The ticket will be presented at the joint mixer-meeting that evening.

So, get to work between semesters, and make this a drafting problem. Don't make the posters any larger than 24 inches in either direction, and include the following information:

Engineers' Ball
 Shoreham Hotel
 Feb. 28—10-1
 Don Lane's Orchestra
 $2 (or Co-op) per couple

● CONGRATULATIONS are due Harry Balmer for receiving the Daniel W. Mead prize of the ASCE in national competition. See the story, elsewhere, in The Hatchet.

● AT LAST WEDNESDAY'S meeting, the Engineers' Council voted to take space in the Cherry Tree, and passed a resolution strongly recommending that all other organizations in the Engineering School do likewise.

The Council took this action after a conference with Editor Anne Thomas and Business Manager Fred

Youngblood, of the annual, in which they were assured that the Engineers would receive a fair break in this year's book, as compared with the poor handling in last year's.

The officers of the three societies will have to do some fast work, to arrange things so that the group pictures, which will be taken free by the Cherry Tree, can be taken at the joint mixer-meeting to be held Feb. 12.

● THE M. E. LAB was a beehive of activity all day Saturday, when the 8-hour boiler test was run. This was the first time that the new steam generator had been used for this purpose, and it stood up nobly, even if it did run out of oil just at the end. About 20 engineers participated, staying there from 9 a. m. to about 5 p. m.

John Busick Calls O'Brien, Zahn Greatest Court Stars Here

(Editor's Note: As a student, Hatchet editor, professional sports writer and member of the University's press staff, John R. Busick has been closely associated with athletics at the University since 1931. For this reason, we have asked him to select an all-star George Washington basketball team from the teams of the past 10 years.)

By JOHN R. BUSICK

First Team	Second Team
O'Brien, '38	Faris, '39
Kiesel, '37	Burgess, '32
Butterworth, '39	Goldfadden, '37
Zahn, '33	Schoenfeld, '37
Garber, '40	Freilicher, '35

If you could put the five best basketball players who have represented the University since 1930 on the same team, at the peak of their careers, and were fortunate enough to have as reserves the second five best Colonials, it goes without saying that you would have a coach's dream squad.

Naturally, most of the players under consideration for places on this all-star team of the past decade played under Coach Bill Reinhart. But the early '30s produced some outstanding players, too. Players like Otto Zahn, who, in my opinion, stands as one of the finest collegiate performers in the history of the sport in Washington.

Does Not Include Present

This selection will not consider members of the current Colonial squad. These boys are not old enough to have acquired the halo of greatness that surrounds those whose deeds were performed in the glorious past. In the world of sports there is nothing like time to add lustre to achievement. But outstanding players like Joe Comer, Matt Zunic and Bobby Gilham unquestionably must be considered for such a team when they reach the "has been" stage.

None of those whose memory dates back to the seasons of 1931-32 and 1932-33 will question the selection of Otto Zahn for a place on this all-star five. A graduate of Eastern High School here, Zahn was a superb floor captain, a fine guard and ball handler and a player of unusual scoring ability. He did everything well. There was no noticeable flaw in his game. He was cool and inspired at the same time. He seldom got rattled.

O'Brien was great. In his junior year he was the sparkplug of a team that won 10 straight games at the start of the season and wound up the campaign with the good record of 11 victories and 4 defeats. Otto, of course, dates back to the days when all home games were played in the "tin tabernacle."

Bill Reinhart ranks Tommy O'Brien, the likeable Irish lad from New Jersey, as the best player to wear the Buff and Blue since Bill came here from Oregon in the fall of 1935. He also regards O'Brien as the best captain he's ever had in any sport. That not only places O'Brien on our team, but brings up the old argument—who was the best, Zahn, or O'Brien?

Tommy was unquestionably a great performer and a great leader. The team that he captained in his senior year, 1937-38, was probably the best ever to represent the University, although this is another of those no-decision debates. That team won 13 games and lost 4 and narrowly missed an invitation to the writers' championship tournament in Madison Square Garden.

O'Brien, like Zahn, had no defects in any department of play. He was a brilliant pot-shot artist. He was a certain death on lay-up shots and his defensive play and ball-handling were beautiful to watch.

Combination Completes Five

The three remaining places on our first team go to Hal Kiesel, Jack Butterworth and George (Jughead) Garber, last year's captain.

Kiesel, Butterworth and O'Brien played one season, 1936-37, together and were the backbone of a splendid combination, a team that won 16 games and lost but 4. This was O'Brien's junior year. Prior to that, he had played one season with Kiesel and in his senior year he played his second with Butterworth. And so Tommy was an important cog in three teams, those of '36-36, '36-37 and '37-38, three truly outstanding clubs.

Hal Kiesel's play under the backboards was in a class by itself. He stood 6-feet 3-inches and seldom missed a rebound. Although he was lean and light, he was never out-scrampled for the ball under the basket. He was a heavy scorer, making most of his baskets from just beneath the hoop.

Jack Butterworth, like Kiesel a native of Indiana, was one of the most gifted players Reinhart has coached here. He simply glided about the floor with an effortless stride that seemingly covered miles

Juniors Beat Soph in Coed Basketball

THE JUNIOR TEAM defeated the Sophomores 38-8 Saturday, and the Seniors overcame the Freshmen 48-45, in the second afternoon of women's interclass basketball games.

The junior-sophomore match was not as one-sided as the score might indicate. Every point was hotly contested and not once did sophomore guards Roselyn Pope and Becky Yobst let the junior scorers shoot without a struggle. Third year forwards Camille Craig with 14 points, Peggy Kinsman with 12, and Marjanna Trowbridge with 9, turned in a fine display of teamwork. Guards Betty Campbell, Helen Byars, and Florida Franklin kept the scoring of soph forwards down to a minimum. Mary Queally and Gloria McCloskey led the sophs in scoring.

In the senior-fresh skirmish it was Ruth Brunner and Cathy Moore leading the scoring for the seniors. Ruth made 24 points from the floor and Cathy 18, as the clean guarding of the spunky frosh gave them no charity tosses. Off to a good start, the seniors led at the half 30-13, but the frosh came back undaunted in the second half.

Forwards Dot Travis and Helen Kunkel radically changed the score and only a slender 3 point margin was left the upperclassmen as the final whistle blew. For those interested in statistics, Travis is credited with 11 baskets, Kunkel with 5, McCrahan with 3, and Morton with 2.

Freshmen guards played heads-up ball, faced for the first time with the elusive Brunner-Moore combination, not to mention versatile Kay Bowen as a third shot artist.

The juniors led interclass competition now, with two wins. The seniors are in second place with one win and one tie while the sophs have a tie and a loss, and the freshmen two losses. The juniors figure to take the seniors Wednesday, February 12, while the sophs taste first victory by drubbing the freshmen.

It was difficult not to place Schoenfeld on the first team, and yet his lack of size hampered him. He was a brilliant individual player who did not reach his peak until he played in the American professional league.

There are others—Reds Auerbach, '40; Wayne Chambers, '32; Wilk Partrick, ex-'32; Sid Silkowitz, '39, and Jimmy Howell, '34, who rate serious consideration. But, all in all, we're stuck on our original selections.

Greek Bowlers, Paddlers Select New Leagues

AS ITS first step toward organizing Interfraternity bowling and ping pong this season, the Greek activities chairman, John O'Donnell, announced last week of the formation of two leagues, composed of six fraternities each. Play in the two sports will not begin until after the exams with bowling getting underway Saturday, Feb. 8, and the paddlers opening the next night.

No definite schedule for games has been announced as yet, but each team will limit its competition to teams in its own league. The two leagues announced by the council are as follows: League A; Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Alpha, Tau Sigma Rho, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Tau Kappa Epsilon. League B; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Kappa Sigma, Acacia, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Dr. Rittenour, Graduate, Dies

DR. JOHN RITTENOUR, 25, University graduate of last June and intern at Garfield Hospital, died Jan. 14, at Emergency Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage resulting from a fall while ice skating at Riverside Stadium the preceding Sunday.

Dr. Rittenour was born in Alexandria and attended Western High School and the University. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Marie L. Rittenour, 3521 Thirty-fifth Street, Northwest, and sister, Mrs. Marion Koepfer, of Washington.

New Secretary Appointed

ANNA BEAN has been appointed new Secretary of the Student Council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Shirley Cox. Gretchen Hill had been acting Secretary until the new appointment by Frank Mann, President of the Student Council.

Zunic Widens Lead in Cage Scoring Race

LARGELY BECAUSE of his 16 point spree at the expense of Furman, Matt Zunic not only retained but lengthened his lead in the varsity scoring race. Matt's 135 points for 13 games enabled him to retain his 10.3 average per game, and shoved him far in front of Joe Comer, who upped his total to 107 points, and remained comfortably ensconced in runner-up spot.

Zunic now leads in every scoring department, including that of number of field goals, in which field Comer had taken the lead after the game with Richmond. But in the four succeeding games with South Carolina, Clemson, Furman, and Duke, Zunic made good on 18 field goals while Comer could sink only 11, so the score in that department now stands 52 to 46 in favor of Zunic.

Eddie Amendola established himself even more securely in his starting post at forward, for on the trip he scored 28 points on fourteen field goals. Bobby Gilham, gradually working himself out of a terrific slump, returned to form to lead the Buff in scoring against Duke, and accounted for 31 points during the week. Lou Veltri hit his season's peak with a dozen points against South Carolina, and rounds out the first five scorers with a 69.

	G.	F.	F.	Pts.
Matt Zunic	12	52	31	135
Joe Comer	13	46	15	107
Eddie Amendola	12	43	8	94
Bobby Gilham	13	7	7	79
Lou Veltri	13	29	11	69

Bird Batters' Tournament In Semifinals

ROSELYN POPE, Catherine Moore, and Connie Smith, seeded second, third and fourth respectively, advanced to the semi-final round of the Women's Single Badminton Tournament last Wednesday night. First-seeded Becky Yobst must beat Pauline Dawkins tomorrow night to reach the semi-finals.

Miss Pope went into the second round on a default by Elizabeth Gittings, and then defeated Joyce Soderstrom 11-6, 11-3. A default by Joan Giles and a 3-1, 11-0 victory over Ruth Darby sent Cathy Moore into the semi, which Connie Smith reached by virtue of a three set licking of Virginia Salisbury and another default.

Miss Pope will meet Miss Moore tomorrow night, while the winner of the Yobst-Dawkins match will play Miss Smith. The winners of these matches will meet in the final Thursday night.

Runner-up in last year's tournament and possessor of a powerful smash, Miss Yobst is favored to emerge victorious in the championship battle. Miss Pope, however, has a nice all-around game that is capable of great things. Cathy Moore has a disconcerting drop shot that has to be watched, while Connie Smith's only difficulty is lack of experience. Whatever the outcome, these last matches are sure to be torrid affairs, for the badminton title is a coveted honor.

Buff End Dixie Jaunt; Face Army Tomorrow

By CHARLES DAUGHERTY

SCARCELY RESTED from its gruelling, but highly successful, trip into the South, the Colonial quint hits the road again tomorrow, and takes on its old nemesis, the Army, at West Point.

This will be the last game before exams for Reinhart's men, and should develop into a dog fight, for the Cadets have always proved a stern foe, and last year trounced the Buffmen 36-31. Next home game on February 8, will be against Furman at Riverside Stadium.

Five Southern Conference games, four of them on consecutive nights, resulted in four victories against a single defeat, inflicted by Duke's Blue Devils on the last night of the tour. The season record now stands at 10 wins and only 3 setbacks.

South Carolina offered little serious opposition, and fell before the Buff 46-31 on the 20th, as Lou Veltri led scoring with 12 points. Moving down to Clemson, the local sharpshooters hit the season's high against the Tigers, rolling up 69 points against 49 for the losers. Matt Zunic fattened his season total with 13 points, a total that was matched by Don McNeil. Eddie Amendola followed closely with 12.

Joe Comer, with a side-court heave in the last minute of play, saved the Colonials from defeat at the hands of Furman, and enabled them to eke out a 37-36 victory.

Coed Riflers Top Creighton In Opener

PACED BY Peggy Lou Dawkins' 99 out of a possible 100 score, the women sharpshooters defeated Creighton University at Omaha, in a telegraphic match, by a score of 487 to 485.

Closely following Miss Dawkins in this, the first match of the year, were Helen Duckson with a 98, Elizabeth Toupasz and Jeanette Walker, both with 97's, and Mabel Vierling McEvans with a 96.

The individual match of non-varsity members was completed last Friday, and final results revealed Mary Maud Moss to be the winner, with a score of 195 out of a possible 200. In second place was Betty Bean, whose total was 193, while show honors went to Barbara Simons with 192. These three girls will probably be selected as substitute Varsity members.

Women Fencers Have Carney As Guest Speaker

JUDGING and directing a fencing bout was the subject of a talk and demonstration given by Mr. Wright Carney before the Women's Fencing Club last Tuesday night. Mr. Carney, head of the Y. M. C. A., preceded his demonstration with a brief lecture on fundamentals. Choosing two fencers and four judges from the group, Mr. Carney acted as director and showed the fine points of officiating at a bout.

Much to the girls' consternation he advised that the fencers say nothing while the judges debate a point.

Intramural Cage Crown Won By Choppers Five

THE CHOPPERS emerged as intramural basketball champions by handily defeating the Texans last Sunday in the Tin Tabernacle. Final score in a contest that proved slightly one-sided was 25-15.

Scoring honors, however, went to Aaron Silverman, guard on the losing team, who ran up 10 points on three field goals and four foul shots. Frank McGinnis, of the Choppers, led his team with 8 points.

As a grand finale for the victorious Choppers, a match between them and the Sigma Chi five, inter-fraternity champion, is being tentatively arranged, to take place as the prelude to a varsity tilt, but just which one has not been decided upon.

FOR many a year your taste and your tongue told you there was something distinctive about Camels... something you just couldn't seem to find in any other cigarette.

Then scientific research told you Camels were slower-burning. You learned that this slower way of burning meant more mildness, more coolness, and more flavor in the smoke.

Now, new tests—impartial laboratory tests of the smoke itself—confirm still another advantage of Camels' slower burning: Less nicotine in the smoke. Less than any of the four other largest-selling brands tested—28% less than the average!

And when independent laboratory tests reveal such a distinct advantage for one brand of cigarettes over all the others tested—that's worth your looking into—right now!

Try the slower-burning cigarette... try Camels. Compare them... compare them by smoking them. The smoke's the thing!

BY BURNING 25% SLOWER than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—Camels also give you a smoking plus equal, on the average, to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

Final Examination Schedule

January 25-February 1, 1941

The class schedule is suspended during the examination period. Examinations will be two hours in length. Books and scratch papers may not be taken into the examination room unless authorized by the instructor in charge.

Third-group courses are not included. Courses in Law and Medicine will be arranged by each school involved. Conflicts which cannot be adjusted with the instructor, and errors should be reported to the Registrar.

Pledges Come Into Their Own at Prom

NO PHONE CALLS to answer, no errands to run, no waiting on tables—Friday night was pledge night and they took it over with a bang. At the Interfraternity Pledge Prom, held at the Washington Hotel, the pledges at last came into their own, and stole the spotlight from their good brothers.

Highlight of the evening was the grand march led by Marshall Gardner, President of the Interfraternity Pledge Council, Jim Boggs, Joe Lawrence, and other representatives to the Council. Cups were presented to Tau Sigma Rho for the best pledge show; S. A. E. for ping-pong; and Sigma Chi, for second place in the ping-pong tournament. At intermission pledges of all fraternities gathered in the tap-room and tried to outsize each other.

Extra added attraction at the prom was the lovely voice of Mary Garrett, songstress for Walley Hughes' orchestra. Mary is a freshman at the University and a Chi Omega pledge.

Fashions sprang out in full bloom. Among the loveliest were noticed: Nancie Tennyson in red and black and gardenias, Betty McCrahan in peach net, Barbara Hanford in black net and lace ruffles, Jane McCallum, Jim Boggs' date, wore blue taffeta and long white gloves. White embroidered pique set off Phyllis Sparks' brunette beauty. Deanne Dickerson appeared in rose satin and Louise McMan in rainbow net. Surprising feature of the prom is that it was the first dance of the year to coincide with the O. D. K. calendar.

Panhel Pledges Ballot for King

THE FIRST PLEDGE KING of the University will be crowned at the Junior Pan-Hellenic Prom at the Shoreham Hotel, Feb. 11. News emanating from inner-Panhel circles announces that secret balloting is already proceeding among sorority pledges to choose their ideal fraternity yearling.

The "King" will reign supreme at the Junior Panhel prom and will carry off a cup as lasting evidence of his royalty. Pledge classes of each fraternity are putting up their best-qualified man for the honor.

The blushing princes with kingly hopes are: James Bacon, Theta Tau Delta; Archie Benkin, Delta Tau Delta; Bernie Berman, TKE; Wally Buell, Sigma Chi; Gordon Calvert, Tau Sigma Rho; Guy Courtney, Sigma Nu; George Eyster, SAE; Anthony Gondolpo, SPE; Keith Holtford, Phi Sig; Hal Moore, Kappa Sig; George Newell, KA; and Forest Sinkard, Acacia.

Tickets to the dance may be had from Junior Panhel delegates for $1.50 per couple and $1.00 stag.

Greeks Plan Mid-Term Celebrations

THE DELTA ZETA'S will celebrate the ending of the examination period with a Mid-Winter formal at the Roger Smith Hotel on Feb. 4. The Virginians will furnish the music.

The Kappa Sigma's entertained their dates after the Interfraternity Pledge Dance Friday night with a breakfast which was really relished by all who attended. Saturday night a radio dance was held at the house.

The active's gave the pledges of Tau Kappa Epsilon a stag smoker Saturday night which ended in the quiet and peaceful TKE manner.

Meanwhile on Saturday night the pledges of Sigma Chi entertained the active chapter with the well-known beer party at the house.

The
